

De Huyghe Brouwerij is famous worldwide due to its iconic pink elephant logo and its definitive Delirium Brand. Despite this it remains family owned to this day but has an incredible output of 165,000 hectolitres a year, of which 70% is exported. The brewery was founded in 1906 but really took the market Christmas 1988 when Delirium Tremens was born.

The flagship beer Delirium Tremens is a strong Belgian Blonde ale, probably the forefront of this style. On the nose is a distinctive spice with alcoholic tones. It warms the tongue and palate from the first taste which is characterised by its roundness. The aftertaste is strong, long lasting and dry bitter.

Delirium Nocturnum has a dark red/brown hue. On the nose is a mixture of caramel, mocha, chocolate, liquorice and coriander. The initial flavouring is perfectly balanced followed by an increasing bitterness from the hop, and from the roasted chocolatey malts and finishes with bitterness and sweetness in unity.

La Guillotine is a golden blonde multigrain beer. In the nose are hints of citrus followed by the hops including Saaz, Brewers Gold and Amarillo. It tastes initially sweet from the alcohol but then the intense taste and roundness mask the high bitterness.

Averbode (see also Abbey beers) is golden blonde in colour with a nose of green apples, hints of sweetness and delicate hops. There is a beautiful taste of harmonic malts and carefully selected hops. There is a fresh, rich and bitter aftertaste make. BAR RECOMMENDED
